The screenshot shows the Australian Development Gateway website in a Microsoft Internet Explorer browser window. The address bar displays <http://www.developmentgateway.com.au/>. The website header includes the Australian Government AusAID logo and navigation links: Home, Information by sector, Tenders & jobs, People & organisations, Discussion forums, and Search. A main banner states: "The Australian Development Gateway (ADG) supports members of the development community in their efforts to reduce poverty and enhance sustainable development in the Asia Pacific region. (see about the ADG)." Below this, there are sections for "COMMUNITY NETWORKING TOOLS" (including a newsletter subscription link), "INFORMATION BY SECTOR HIGHLIGHTS" (listing various sectors like Agriculture, Development practice, Disaster management, Education, Enterprise development, Governance, Health, ICT for Development, and Water with their respective link and event counts), "STORIES FROM THE FIELD" (featuring a photo of Christine Gregory and a link to an article about water supply systems in Vietnam), "ASK THE SECTOR SPECIALIST" (with a link to an ICT specialist article), "AARTG" (linking to the Australian Aid Resource and Training Guide), and "AUSAID" (mentioning the Virtual Colombo Plan).
